

CINDY WOOL MEMORIAL SEMINAR

Hope is Real...and Essential An Evening with Ben Corn, M.D.

Join us for an inspiring presentation by Dr. Ben Corn, internationally recognized oncologist, educator, and advocate for humanism in medicine. Drawing on his extensive clinical experience and groundbreaking work integrating science with empathy, Dr. Corn will explore how compassionate care can transform both patients and practitioners. Attendees will gain insights into the role of meaning, dignity, and resilience in healing - offering a poignant reminder of a side of medicine that many have forgotten.

Dr. Benjamin Corn earned his BA and MD degrees from Boston University and completed his postgraduate training at the University of Pennsylvania. As a Full Professor of Oncology at the Hebrew University Faculty of Medicine he recently launched the “Institute for the Study of Hope, Dignity & Wellbeing” at that institution. Ben’s commitment to fostering hope, meaning and dignity at all states of health and illness goes beyond mere words. Professor Corn is the co-Founder-Funder and Chairman of the NGO, Life’s Door. Through Life’s Door and in collaboration with international academic partners, Ben is leading research efforts to unravel the mysteries and mechanisms of hope on both neuroscientific and behavioral levels. The latter has enabled training of medical professionals as well as patients with the Hope Enhancement model.
