Stephen Dahmer, MD

Stephen Dahmer, MD, is the Director of the Andrew Weil Center for Integrative Medicine and holds the Andrew Weil Endowed Chair in Integrative Medicine at the University of Arizona (UA) in Tucson. He also serves as Division Chief of Integrative Medicine and Associate Professor in the Department of Family and Community Medicine. He earned his Medical Degree from the University of Wisconsin-Madison and completed fellowship training in Integrative Family Medicine at the University of Arizona.

Dr. Dahmer is triple board-certified in family medicine, integrative medicine, and lifestyle medicine. His professional experience spans clinical service in diverse and underserved settings, stateside and internationally, and his research interests include real-world outcomes of integrative therapies and the clinical application of medicinal plants in contemporary health care systems. His clinical, academic, and leadership work focuses on advancing evidence-based integrative health care, with particular emphasis on the responsible use of botanicals and dietary supplements in patient-centered care.

THE JEWISH HEALTHCARE NETWORK (JHN), a newly launched initiative by Jewish Philanthropies of Southern Arizona (JPSA), aims to connect Jewish healthcare professionals across the industry. This program provides opportunities for meaningful networking, collaboration, education and engagement with peers in the field.

JHN is an expansion of the Maimonides Society to include donors to JPSA's campaign at all levels.

The Maimonides Society recognizes healthcare professionals donating $1,500 or more to JPSA's Annual Campaign.
